

The claim is that this is supposed to be 'equal time' for both Michael Moore's movie, and the recent attention to President Bush's service record. But I will note that Michael Moore's movie was being forcibly shown, commercial free, on television, and that ample time was spent in the news media on BOTH candidate's service records.